2. What are cookies?

A cookie is a text file that is placed on your hard disk by a web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalize Breakline Markets Limited pages or register with Breakline Markets

Limited website or services, a cookie helps us recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information, such as email address and so on. When you return to the same Breakline Markets Limited website, the information you previously provided can be retrieved, so you can easily use the Breakline Markets Limited website features that you customized.

You can accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to fully experience the interactive features of the Breakline Markets Limited services or websites you visit.

Types of Cookies

The most common Cookie types that we use are described below:

1. Necessary Cookies:

We use essential cookies to operate the core functions of our website, so that you may visit and move around it, and use its features. We do not require your consent to use these cookies, but you may be able to block these cookies yourself on your device/browser. However, without these cookies, our site is unlikely to work as you would expect and certain services that you may ask for, for example, signing into your online account, cannot be provided.

Where we process 'personal data' using these essential cookies, we do so on the basis of our legitimate interests to provide a website for visitors to use and to promote our business.

2. Preference Cookies:

Some of our preference cookies remember your username, such as the "keep me logged in" option that stores your email and password and keeps you logged into your account until you log out. As a result, we seek your permission for certain cookies in compliance with regulatory guidance.

3. Analytical Cookies:

These cookies allow us and our partners to understand how users arrive on our website/platform to measure the number of visitors to our website/platform, but also to analyse the way in which visitors browse our website/platform or reconstitute their journey. This helps us improve the way our Sites and / or Applications work by ensuring, for example, that users easily find what These cookies may be exempt from permission from users when they are strictly necessary for the functioning of the website/platform as the information collected is in most cases anonymous, but some analytics services collect information that can be used to identify the user. As a result, in accordance with regulatory guidance, we need your permission to use these cookies.

4. Marketing Cookies:

Marketing cookies allow us to deliver information to visitors on third-party websites and track the success of our marketing campaigns. In terms of our use of marketing cookies, we follow industry best practices. The use of these cookies also requires user permission as per the regulatory guidance.

5. Third-party cookies:

In addition to our own cookies, we may also use various third-parties cookies to report usage statistics of our website/platform to deliver advertisements and other social media and marketing products and services.

3. How can you manage cookies?

When you visit our website, you have the option of accepting or declining cookies. Although most web browsers allow cookies by default, you can typically change your browser settings to reject cookies if you prefer. Visit https://www.aboutcookies.org/ to learn more about how to block, delete, and manage cookies. Please be aware that if you refuse to accept cookies, you may not be able to use the website to its full potential. Please review our Privacy Policy for more details on how we handle your data. Please contact us at https://breaklinemarkets.com if you have any queries or issues.
